

The remaining old-growth forests (dark green, sliding greens) and mires (from grayish green to turquoise and red) are being destroyed or fragmented by logging west of the town of Storuman (Västerbotten, Sweden). Rectangular areas of fresh clearcut (magenta) and re-growing clearcut areas (light green, bright green) can be seen everywhere here.